

TOWERS

1949

*The 1949 Towers Staff
Presents
A Symphony of Ideas*

The background of the cover features a faint, light blue illustration of a grand piano on the left side, with its lid open. Overlaid on the piano and extending across the right side of the cover are several musical staves with notes and clefs, creating a sense of music and harmony.

Foreword

Our years at Notre Dame of Maryland have been a symphony, a blending of melodies, harmonies and themes. Each year has been a movement in itself complete.

Our freshman year meant initiation and everything done for the first time. In the second movement as sophomores, we were more confident and ready in our discussion of biology. As juniors we found a geometric complexity to mathematics and French verbs. With the triumphant strains of the finale we rode with the pilgrims to Canterbury.

Through all the years we have known the exciting rhythms of the hockey field and of the basketball court; the majestic and stirring motif of religion, so integral a part of Notre Dame; the satisfying harmony of study.

We are grateful to our fellow-classes for supporting the melody. We thank the faculty for their splendid conductorship in cooperation with the Master Musician, for their understanding interpretation of the score, and for their efforts to make us instruments of Grace in the future symphony of life.

Graduation — the melodic triumph of Finale

A fitting climax to Graduation Day is the "White Dance" given in honor of the Forty-niners by seniors Esther Lang, Joan Marley, Mary Rea and Jane Wunder at the Sheraton-Belvedere.

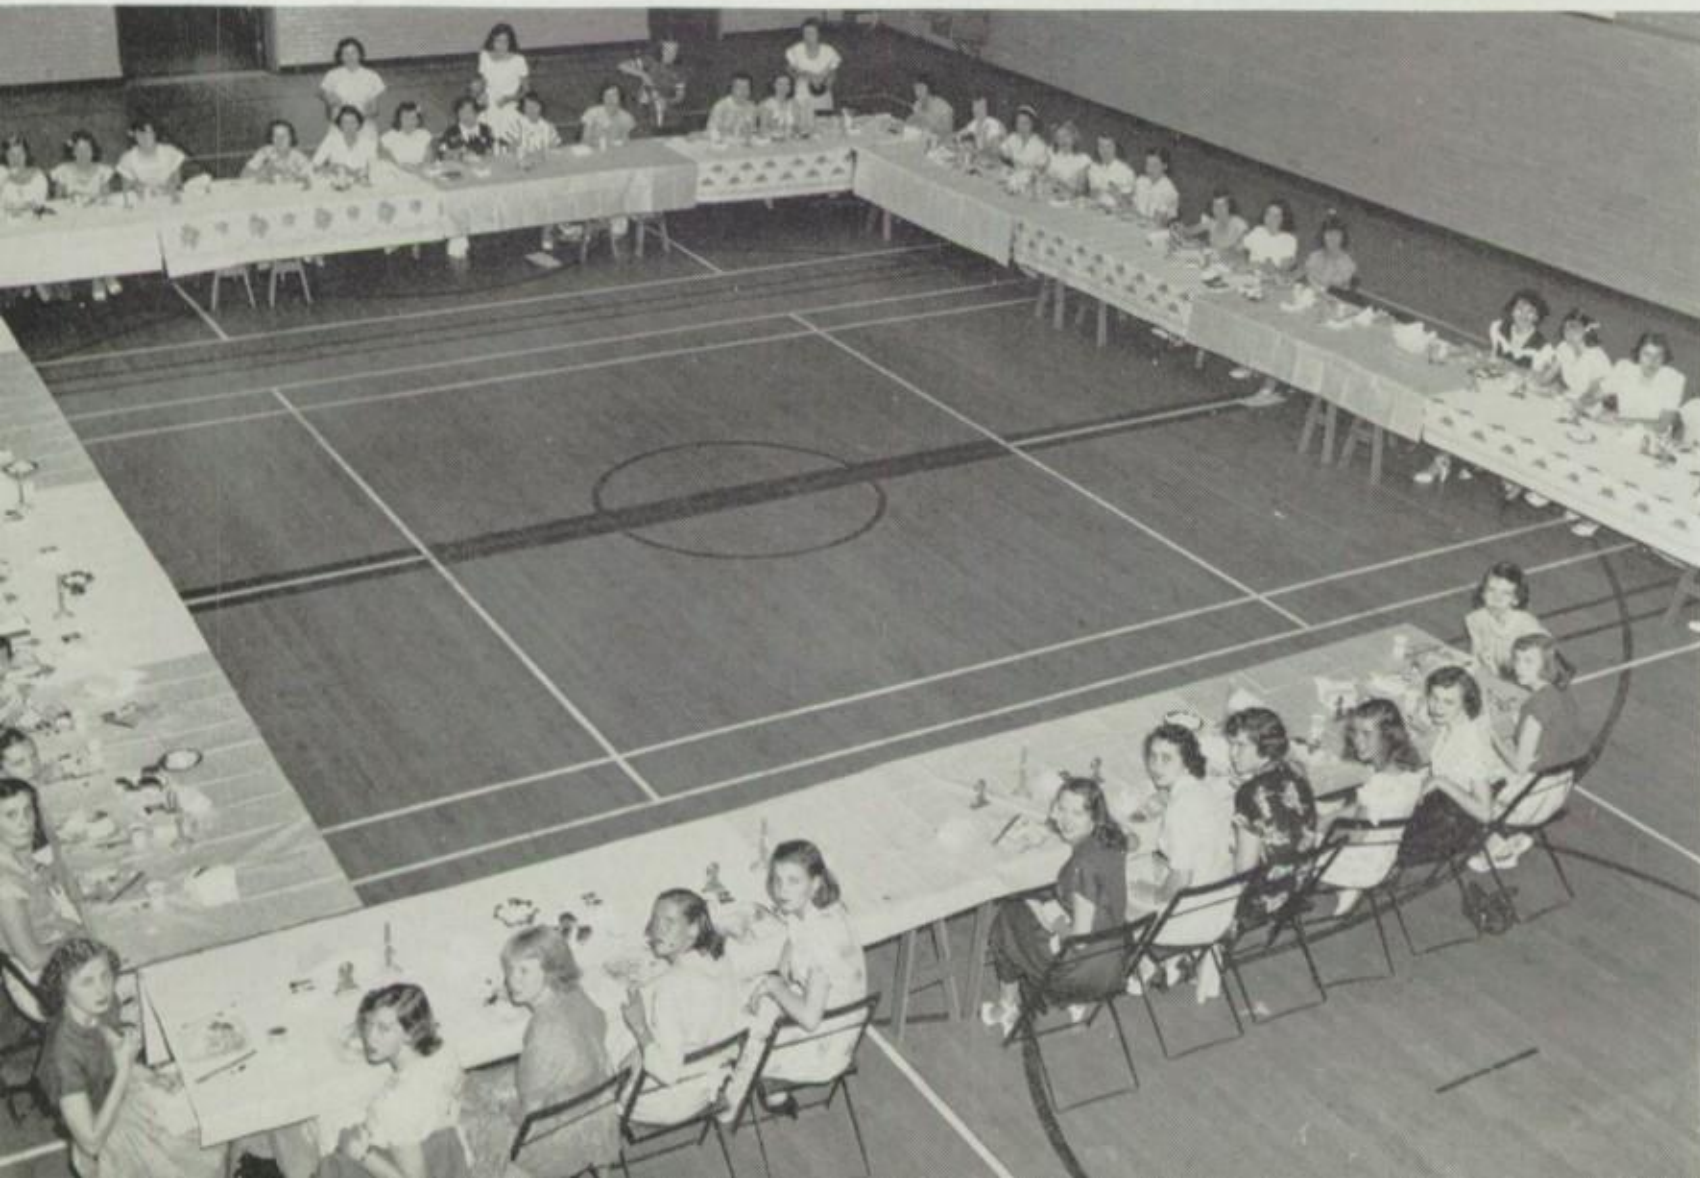

Graduates sing their commencement songs.

Seniors of '49 gather for a last activity—Class Night.
